Web-based solution for classifieds

We bring your ad customers to you. With the Web-based system adclick, advertisers design their classifieds themselves in the browser with just a few clicks. It is then automatically integrated in the layout of your medium for use online or in print.

This means that productive resources are no longer tied up with time-consuming text input and typesetting. Smart interaction with your CRM systems additionally boosts efficiency in customer communication, in defining prices and billing.
